

TEACHING ASSISTANT POSITION

Sciences Po's Department for Studies and Partnerships is seeking, for the Fall semester 2024-2025:

One PhD student in 2024-2025, interested in a teaching assistant position for the in-depth lecture course: "History of the Global Economy", taught in English by Professor Kevin O'ROURKE.

This course is part of the Masters' Common Academic Curriculum.

Course description

This course introduces students to the history of the global economy, stressing the central role that economic history can have in informing current debates on the key challenges facing society today: the future of globalization, the factors shaping inequality, or the role of monetary and fiscal policy in stabilizing the economy. It asks: What were the political and technological underpinnings of increased trade, capital and labour flows over the past two centuries; what were the effects of these flows on income distribution within countries; and what political responses did they provoke? What can explain the deglobalization experienced in the years between 1914 and 1945? Can history inform current debates about industrial policy? What is the relationship between globalization and peace?

Calendar

This course will meet every Monday from 5:00 PM to 7:00 PM, on the Paris campus, in the Fall semester, from Monday, September 2, to Monday, December 2, 2024 (holiday from October 28 to November 3).

Final exams will take place from December 11 to 17, 2024.

Student grades will be handed in by January 2025.

Activities

The mission of the Teaching assistant, in support of the Professor, on-campus, may include the following responsibilities:

- Assisting in the preparation of the course and bibliographic/pedagogical resources;
- Making course materials available to students on the Moodle platform or via other media (email);
- Following up with students by email: answers to questions, bibliographic and methodological advice, reminders of instructions, logistical assistance, etc. ;
- Offer a collective methodological tutoring, before the midterm and the final assignments;
- Coordinating with the Professor the preparation, proctoring, organization and grading of the various assignments and exams.

The position requires an excellent level of English, as well as the requisite personal qualities (intellectual curiosity, enthusiasm, punctuality, availability, ability to listen, analytical clarity, rigor, and a sense of responsibility).

Number of hours and compensation

The contractual number of hours is 16 for the semester, with a remuneration set to 65.10 € per hour (pre-tax).

The grading of exams is additionally remunerated, at the end of the semester. The remuneration of the copies varies depending on the length of the assignment. As part of a contractual teaching service, the value of this assignment is calculated as 16 hours of "TD equivalent time".

Application

If you are interested in applying for this position, please send your application (CV and cover letter, in English) to Professor Kevin O'Rourke, by Tuesday, June 4, 2024: kevinh.orourke@sciencespo.fr
(CC) formation.commune@sciencespo.fr