

The 2025 Sciences Po Paris Visiting Fellowship

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS ACADEMIC YEAR 2025-2026

Sciences Po is calling for outstanding applications for visiting faculty from the United States.

One visiting faculty position will be open in the social sciences or humanities, for one full semester during the academic year 2025-2026.

Sciences Po is an international research university, both selective and open to the world, ranking among the finest institutions in the fields of humanities and social sciences. According to the 2024 QS Rankings by discipline, Sciences Po is among the top two international universities in the Politics & International Relations category and remains the leading university in the European Union in this discipline.

Sciences Po stands out for combining approaches and confronting different worldviews. This tradition of diversity and multidisciplinary approach makes Sciences Po a reputed player in academic research through its scientific production, an internationally recognized teaching university and an active participant in public debate, a forum where thought meets action.

Detailed information about our research units can be found on our website.

CONDITIONS

Visiting faculty will receive a net monthly stipend of 4,000 euros (from which income taxes will be deducted).

Visiting faculty are expected to contribute actively to the research community they will join, and to engage with students by delivering some academic lectures or seminar presentations during their stay. Optionally, they can also teach one full course over the semester (resulting in additional remuneration).

Visiting faculty will be given access to an office space on campus, to the Sciences Po library and other University facilities, and to the research activity and events program for the relevant Department.

APPLICATION

Applicants must be current full-time permanent faculty members of their home university in the United States.

Application materials include the following documents and must be submitted in English:

- A statement of interest for the position, including research project to be undertaken at Sciences Po and specificities (ex: provisional dates of stay)
- A full CV, including list of publications
- A letter of invitation from the head of the Sciences Po research unit sponsoring the visit to Sciences Po
- A letter of support from the relevant head of department or dean of the applicant's home institution confirming their agreement for this one-semester residence at Sciences Po
- Optionally: A proposed course to be taught in French or in English, and a two-page, session-by-session description of each course's content, for the Undergraduate College of Sciences Po or one of Sciences Po's graduate schools

Applications should be submitted by email to mathilde.lecler@sciencespo.fr

Sciences Po is a bilingual university (French & English), French is therefore not required for application to this position, but one of the two languages is essential.

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS: March 9th, 2025

Important notice: Please note that you should contact the relevant Department/Research Centre at least 2 to 3 weeks prior the deadline for applications to secure a letter of invitation in due time.

A selection committee, with representatives from the Sciences Po Research division, Academic Affairs Division and International Affairs Division will meet in February 2025, and decisions will be communicated to applicants by Sciences Po in March 2025.

CONTACT & INFORMATION:

- Program general conditions: Mathilde Lecler, Office of International Affairs: mathilde.lecler@sciencespo.fr